

binding of Isaac always awakens me to that which is most profound, most true and most needed in my life. These days I find that which is most needed in all of our lives, is balance. I pray that the call of this story, the sound of the shofar and the stirring words of our prayers may likewise guide your journey and stir your heart on this Yom Harat Ha-olam, this day that celebrates the world's creation. May we together create in this New Year of 5764... time. Time to regain our balance, time to communicate with our children, time to reconnect with our spouses, time to enjoy and support our community and most importantly time to celebrate our families
